Piano Jazz - Recording a Duet

McPartland: I should let everyone know that my guest today is Joe Sample. Well, I guess we haven't done a duet yet. That would be nice to do, wouldn't it?

Sample: I tell you what, I'll play like the first eight and you play the second eight and, uh, and then I'll take the bridge and you, and then you take the second eight. And then next time around, you ought to take the bridge.

McPartland: Well, maybe, uh, after that you could do a whole chorus.

Sample: OK.

McPartland: And I could do maybe half of one. And then you come back in and....

Sample: Right.

McPartland: We...

Sample: In other words, we'll play like duet some and then I'll do it solo some and then you do solo some.

McPartland: Yeah.

Sample: OK. Great.

McPartland: OK.

[Sample and McPartland play a duet on the piano.]
